1. Executive Summary

What It Does

Tracks which upsells perform best and automatically reorders them. Top performers shown first, poor performers hidden. Adapts to customer profiles (“people like you also bought…”).

Business Value

METRIC	BEFORE	AFTER (TARGET)
Upsell acceptance	Static ~10%	Dynamic > 20%
Average order value	Baseline	+15-25%
Upsell relevance	Generic	Personalized

2. System Architecture

Performance Tracking

For each upsell item:
  impressions = times shown clicks = times clicked conversions = times added to cart revenue = total $ from conversions

score = (conversions / impressions) × revenue_per_conversion

Dynamic Ordering

Customer views menu
  → Query upsell scores
  → Sort by score (descending)
  → Top 3 shown prominently
  → Low performers (< 2% conversion) hidden
  → New items given "exploration boost" (first 100 impressions)

Personalization

For returning customer:
  → Look up profile (CRM Lite)

→ "Customers who get [their service] also add:"
→ Show top 3 correlated upsells

3. Database Schema

CREATE TABLE upsell_performance ( upsell_id TEXT PRIMARY KEY, name TEXT,
  impressions INTEGER DEFAULT 0, clicks INTEGER DEFAULT 0, conversions INTEGER DEFAULT 0, revenue_cents INTEGER DEFAULT 0, score REAL DEFAULT 0, status TEXT DEFAULT 'active',
  updated_at TIMESTAMP DEFAULT CURRENT_TIMESTAMP

4. Implementation Plan

PHASE	TASK	EST. EFFORT
1	Performance tracking database	2 hours
2	Impression/click/conversion logging	2 hours
3	Scoring algorithm	2 hours

5	A/B testing framework	2 hours
Total		~10 hours

5. Performance Guide

Score Calculation

const impressions = item.impressions || 1; // avoid division by zero
const conversionRate = item.conversions / impressions;
const avgRevenue = item.revenue_cents / (item.conversions || 1);
const score = conversionRate * (avgRevenue / 100); // normalize to dollars

When to Retire an Upsell
